

Jason Palmeri
CSD200
Assignment 8.2

Mi = Km

Calculate

First thing I thought when I read the assignment was to keep it simple. This program would be used for one thing, and that's converting one number to another. No need for anything really fancy. I choose two rectangles for input boxes with their respective unit of measurement styled to the right. I choose a green calculate button to draw the users attention to it for when they are ready to get their desired result.